Flu, Colds Cut Attendance at Harrisburg City, High Schools

Flu and colds hit the Harrisburg city schools system this week, with 391 absent yesterday and 384 absentees this morning because of illness. Illness also struck in Harrisburg Township high school.

Total enrollment is 1,514 in the city schools. The central office reported that this morning there were 85 out of 419 out at McKinley, 125 out of 376 at Horace Mann, 76 out of 334 at Junior high, 40 out of 209 at Logan, 52 out of 123 at Bayliss and 6 out of 53 at Dorris Heights.

That means that approximately one-fourth of the enrollment has been out yesterday and today.

Fred Armistead, Junior high school principal, said today that the big increase in illness started Friday. In October the attendance held up well, with 96.33 per cent attendance reported for the month.

Engineer Says He Felt Heat; Car Engine Dies

ALAMOGORDO, N. M. — An electronics engineer reported seeing an unidentified flying object on an isolated desert highway near Alamogordo in southern New Mexico Monday.

James Stokes, 42, an engineer in an upper air research project at the Air Force missile development center near Alamogordo, said 10 automobiles stopped or were stopped when the object appeared Monday afternoon on U. S. 54, between White Sands proving grounds and the Air Force missile development center.

Earlier in the day, officials at White Sands proving grounds said two Army patrols reported seeing a similar object or objects on Sunday.

Similar reports came Sunday from Levelland, Tex. In Washington, the Air Force said the reports are being investigated. It would not comment on speculation that unidentified flying objects might have been picked upon radar or sighted by military pilots.

In New Orleans, the U. S. Coast Guard cutter Sebago reported it spotted a brilliant flying object in the sky this morning about 200 miles south of the mouth of the Mississippi River.

A radio report from Sebago, on duty in the Gulf of Mexico, said the object "resembled a brilliant planet" and was traveling at a high rate of speed.

Car Engine Died

A dispatch from Honolulu said a number of Fiji Island natives and a white clergyman reported seeing a similar object in the South Pacific skies last month.

Stokes, in a taped interview for Terry Clark, news director at station KALG in Alamogordo, reported that the object approached from the northeast over the Sacramento Mountains. He said the first indication that something was

Lewis Seeks No UMW Wage Boost

WASHINGTON — President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers has indicated he is not pressing for a wage increase for union members at this time.

Industry sources said Lewis wrote coal operators advising them the miners' three-day Christmas holiday and $40 bonus were not mandatory this year under the present contract.

Lewis wrote that the Christmas arrangements applied only to 1956 "in the absence of negotiation and agreement between the parties, which has not yet eventuated."

Industry sources believed this was Lewis' way of making it known he was not presenting any wage demands. The "soft" market for coal probably accounted for this step, the sources said.

SIU Enrollment Totals 8,311

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Fall term enrollment tabulations reveal that Southern Illinois University's one-year population growth has outdistanced all predictions, climbing more than 32 per cent above last year's figure.

Final registration figures released today by Registrar Robert McGrath show a record enrollment of 8,311 students in residence at Carbondale and the Alton-East St. Louis area residence centers. The total is 2,059 above the all time high established last year, the largest single year increase in SIU's post-war growth period.

Although the enrollment of 1,814 at the residence centers far surpassed original estimates, it had little effect on registration rolls at the Carbondale campus. McGrath reported 6,497 students in class at Carbondale, 393 more than last year.

Not included in the resident tabulation are 810 students in extension courses, 1600 adults in non-credit classes offered throughout the area by SIU's Division of Technical and Adult Education, and 552 pre-college students in the University Training School.

Geographically, student distribution shows 4,758 from Southern Illinois, 746 from central Illinois, 581 from the 26 northern counties, and 316 from 33 other states. The remainder are foreign students.

State Police Trainees Receive New Type Of Asian Flu Vaccine

SPRINGFIELD — Effectiveness of a new type of Asian flu vaccine is being studied in tests on a class of state police recruits in training at the state fairgrounds here, officials said today.

The new vaccine was given to 24 of the trainees under the skin and to another 24 between layers of the skin.

Dr. Norman J. Rose, chief of the state public health department's communicable disease control bureau, said the new vaccine contained twice the immunizing power of the old vaccine.

Predict Sputnik I Rocket to Crash on Dec. 11

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — The third-stage rocket of Russia's first space satellite will crash to earth Dec. 11, Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory predicted today.

The director of the observatory also said Sputnik II, the dog-carrying satellite, may be visible in parts of the United States Wednesday and Thursday mornings.

The prediction of the first rocket's fall came in a telegram to Smithsonian from Dr. Leland E. Cunningham, director of the computation division at the University of California.

Smithsonian officials said it confirmed a prediction made by Smithsonian Director Dr. Fred Whipple several weeks ago.

Whipple said he thought it impossible to say exactly where the third-stage rocket will fall.

"I would expect it would have a greater probability of falling in the low latitudes of the northern hemisphere," he said.

Whipple also said "indications are that the new satellite may be visible in the morning for a few days beginning tomorrow or Thursday."

Whipple predicted an "amazing show" of flashing Soviet satellites over the United States next month. He said Sputnik I was scheduled to reappear during the first two weeks of December while at the same time Sputnik II would be seen.

New Democratic Federation to Meet At Peoria Sunday

CHICAGO — State Rep. Paul Simon (D-Troy), provisional chairman of the newly organized Democratic Federation of Illinois, today announced the first meeting of the group's executive board will be held at Peoria Sunday.

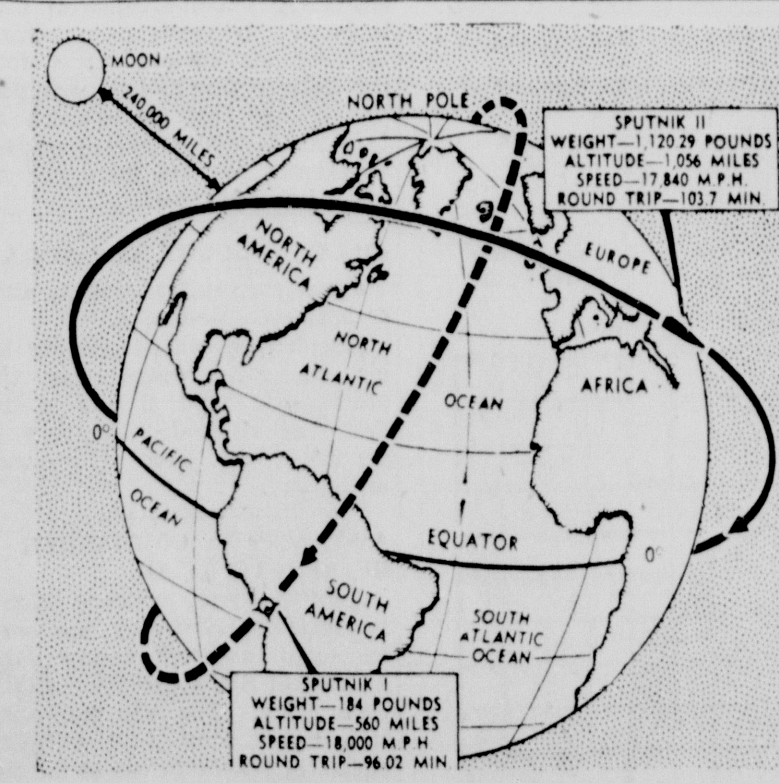

The meeting will be held in the council chambers of the Peoria city hall, and will be open to the public and the press, Simon said here. He met here Monday with Chicago area members of the group after returning from an European tour.

The federation was formed at Springfield Sept. 28 to encourage and assist the organization of Democratic clubs across the state.

It was set up to operate separately from the regular Democratic organization and to attract voters and contributors who might be reluctant to affiliate with the "professional" Democratic organization.

Employment Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fewer workers were on strike during the first nine months of this year than in any comparable period since the end of World War II, the Labor Department said Monday. Department statistics showed 3,025 strikes idled 1,250,000 workers during the period and that work time lost due to the strikes amounted to 0.16 per cent of all time worked.

Moscow Renews Attacks

Cairo Radio Hint for Assassination Of King Hussein Brings Sharp Reply

By United Press
Cairo Radio hinted today that the assassination of King Hussein of Jordan would be a fitting end to what it called "those who betray the Arab cause."

Moscow Radio renewed its attacks against Turkey, and Syria listed a new series of alleged violations of Syrian territory by Turkish war planes.

The Cairo Radio broadcast — which brought sharp retorts and insults from Jordan — was almost an open appeal to the Arabs to kill the young ruler for alleged efforts to reach a peace agreement with Israel.

The broadcast observed that King Hussein's grandfather, King Abdullah, was assassinated in 1951 after he opened negotiations with Israel for an end to the Arab-Israeli war.

And without using the actual word "assassination" Cairo Radio left no doubt it considered this the proper answer to Hussein's efforts to "commit the same crime of his grandfather."

"The Jordan people had the right... answer for this in Abdullah's case," Cairo said, "and there is no doubt the Jordan people are stronger and more conscious of their responsibilities today than ever before."

Both Israel and Jordan have denied officially the Egyptian reports they were negotiating a peace treaty. Today the Amman and Jerusalem, Jordan, radios added to the reply by heaping insults on Egypt and on President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

The Jordani commentary began by accusing communism of launching an attack on Jordan through their main agent, "Egypt's Little Colonel" and ended by attacking Nasser as a "slave of Moscow."

National Issues

Elections Today in New Jersey, N. Y., Virginia and Pennsylvania

By United Press
Voters in New Jersey, New York, Virginia and Pennsylvania cast their ballots in nationally significant elections today. The White House was the background for New Jersey's hot gubernatorial race. Segregation, and remotely Little Rock, was the issue in Virginia.

The nationally important races: New Jersey's battle for the governor's mansion matched incumbent Democrat Robert Meyner and Republican Malcolm Forbes, an aggressive challenger backed personally by President Eisenhower. Meyner, if he wins, may be a 1960 White House contender. He was the favorite.

Virginia's contest for governor centered on methods of preserving segregated schools. State Sen. Ted Dalton, the Republican nominee, challenged the powerful state Democratic organization and its candidate, former State Attorney General J. Lindsay Almond Jr. Almond carried the banner of Sen. Harry F. Byrd and "massive resistance" to federal court integration orders. Almond was the favorite.

New York City voters judged a heated campaign for mayor of the nation's largest city. Mayor Robert F. Wagner, a dark horse for the 1960 Democratic presidential or vice presidential nomination, was expected to have little trouble beating off the challenge of Robert K. Christenberry, the Republican nominee.

In Philadelphia's suburban 13th District Republican John A. LaFore faced off against Democrat Glenn W. Preston for the seat vacated by the resignation of GOP Rep. Samuel K. McConnell Jr.

Centralia Cop Severely Beaten By A Burglar

CENTRALIA, Ill. — A Centralia policeman stopped the marauding of a muscular burglar early today but was severely beaten in the process.

The policeman, Earl Howell, 23, was in St. Mary's Hospital here with severe contusions of the head, chest and right hand. X-rays were planned to determine if he suffered other injuries.

Howell was about to go off duty early today when he heard a noise in a business building.

Howell entered the second story office of the Friedrich Finance Co., and was struck from behind by the burglar, evidently with a crowbar. Howell was kicked in the chest and his head was pounded against the floor in the beating.

Howell regained consciousness 30 minutes later and called a telephone operator who notified police.

Police found that the burglar also had broken into an attorney's office by forcing open the door even though it was not locked. The burglar got nothing there. He also took about $20 from an insurance company office safe. Police said the safe was not locked, but the burglar removed the pins from the door anyway.

Police said two men may have been involved in the break-ins and the beating of the policeman.

The Lions club-sponsored shelter in the proposed picnic area at Lake Harrisburg is nearing completion. The shelter is 32 by 16 feet with corrugated metal roof. A concrete floor will be poured this fall and a fireplace and tables are scheduled for early spring.

The shelter is located near the lake shore just west of the log cabin and can be reached by the road leading into the woods at the side of the cabin.

The Harrisburg Lions will not meet next Monday as it is a holiday, but will meet on Tuesday evening, Nov. 12, with the Kiwanis club. The following Monday, Nov. 18, will be Lions Ladies' Night.

Scientist Says Super Fuel Powers Rocket

Claims Could Send Missile to Moon In Ten Hours

LONDON — Soviet boasts that Russia had developed a fuel capable of driving a rocket 25,000 miles an hour increased Western belief today the Russians may try to hit the moon Thursday with a missile carrying a hydrogen warhead.

There already had been widespread speculation among British and American scientists that Russia may already have launched such a rocket in belief it would light up the darkened face of the moon during Thursday's eclipse — and in celebration of the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

Russia's mastery of rocket missiles and the 40th anniversary already had plunged the world into 48 hours of suspense. Today new claims from Moscow of super fuels and even greater advances in electronics increased the anxious waiting.

25,000 m.p.h. Possible

Soviet scientist T. Khachaturov, a corresponding member of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, wrote today in "Gudot," organ of the Soviet Transport Ministry, that Russia had developed a fuel capable of sending a missile to the moon in 10 hours.

He said the new fuel was developed to launch Sputnik II into space with its dog passenger at a speed of 17,885 miles an hour. His article, "The Threshold of Interplanetary Transport," said interplanetary travel was obvious since a speed of 25,000 miles an hour was possible.

The moon is about 241,000 miles from the earth.

The latest suggestion that a rocket may already have been launched came today from Kenneth W. Galsland, vice chairman of the British Interplanetary Society. He also said he suspected it might carry a nuclear device. Similar reports came from American scientists.

There also have been rumors that Russia might try to splash the moon with a red dye. But Dr. James Stokley, director of the Fels Planetarium in Philadelphia, said in East Lansing, Mich., the moon already will be red on Thursday — refraction of the light rays will make it appear red.

Call Hurried Meetings

He said the Russians might take advantage of the eclipse to make it appear to Asian peoples — who will see the eclipse clearly — that the moon's change in color is part of the Sputnik program.

The Soviet developments were so startling that hurried meetings were called in Washington and in London to assess the full import.

Paul-Henri Spaak, secretary general of NATO, arrived in London today to discuss with British leaders the revamping of North Atlantic defenses in the face of Russian advances. The meeting is a prelude to the December meeting of the NATO chiefs.

There was no official word from Moscow, but a steady flow of hints that something big was brewing for Thursday morning. Nikita S. Khrushchev gave such a hint Monday night in talks with Communist Chinese leader Mao Tse-Tung.

Some Women Not Claiming Social Security Payments

A widow who was 62 years old or over in November 1956 can still get her social security benefits back to that month if she applies before the end of November 1957, according to E. Bishop Hill, manager of the Harrisburg social security office.

Hundreds of women in Southern Illinois have applied for benefits since the Social Security Act was changed to permit women to start drawing their payments at age 62. Mr. Hill states, however, that there are undoubtedly many women past age 62 who have not applied. A working woman or the wife of a living retired worker may not want to apply before she is 65 because she would have to take permanently reduced benefits. The reduction does not apply to the widow or dependent mother of a deceased insured worker. She can get the full amount of her payments starting at age 62.

The Social Security Act permits retroactive payments to eligible persons for not more than one year. If the husband died in November 1956 or earlier and the widow was already 62 in that month she should apply by November 30, 1957. If she applies later she cannot receive all the monthly payments she might have received if she had applied earlier.

Mr. Hill mentioned that widows who apply for benefits can speed up their payments if they bring proof of age and proof of marriage when they contact their social security office. He pointed out that a birth certificate is not absolutely required for proof of age. Any reasonably reliable document such as an old family Bible record or an old insurance policy showing the widow's date of birth will be useful.

CIPS Ad in Business Week for Area Development

"Plants Thrive in CIPStowns" is the caption of a full page area development advertisement appearing in the current issue of Business Week magazine under the sponsorship of Central Illinois Public Service Co.

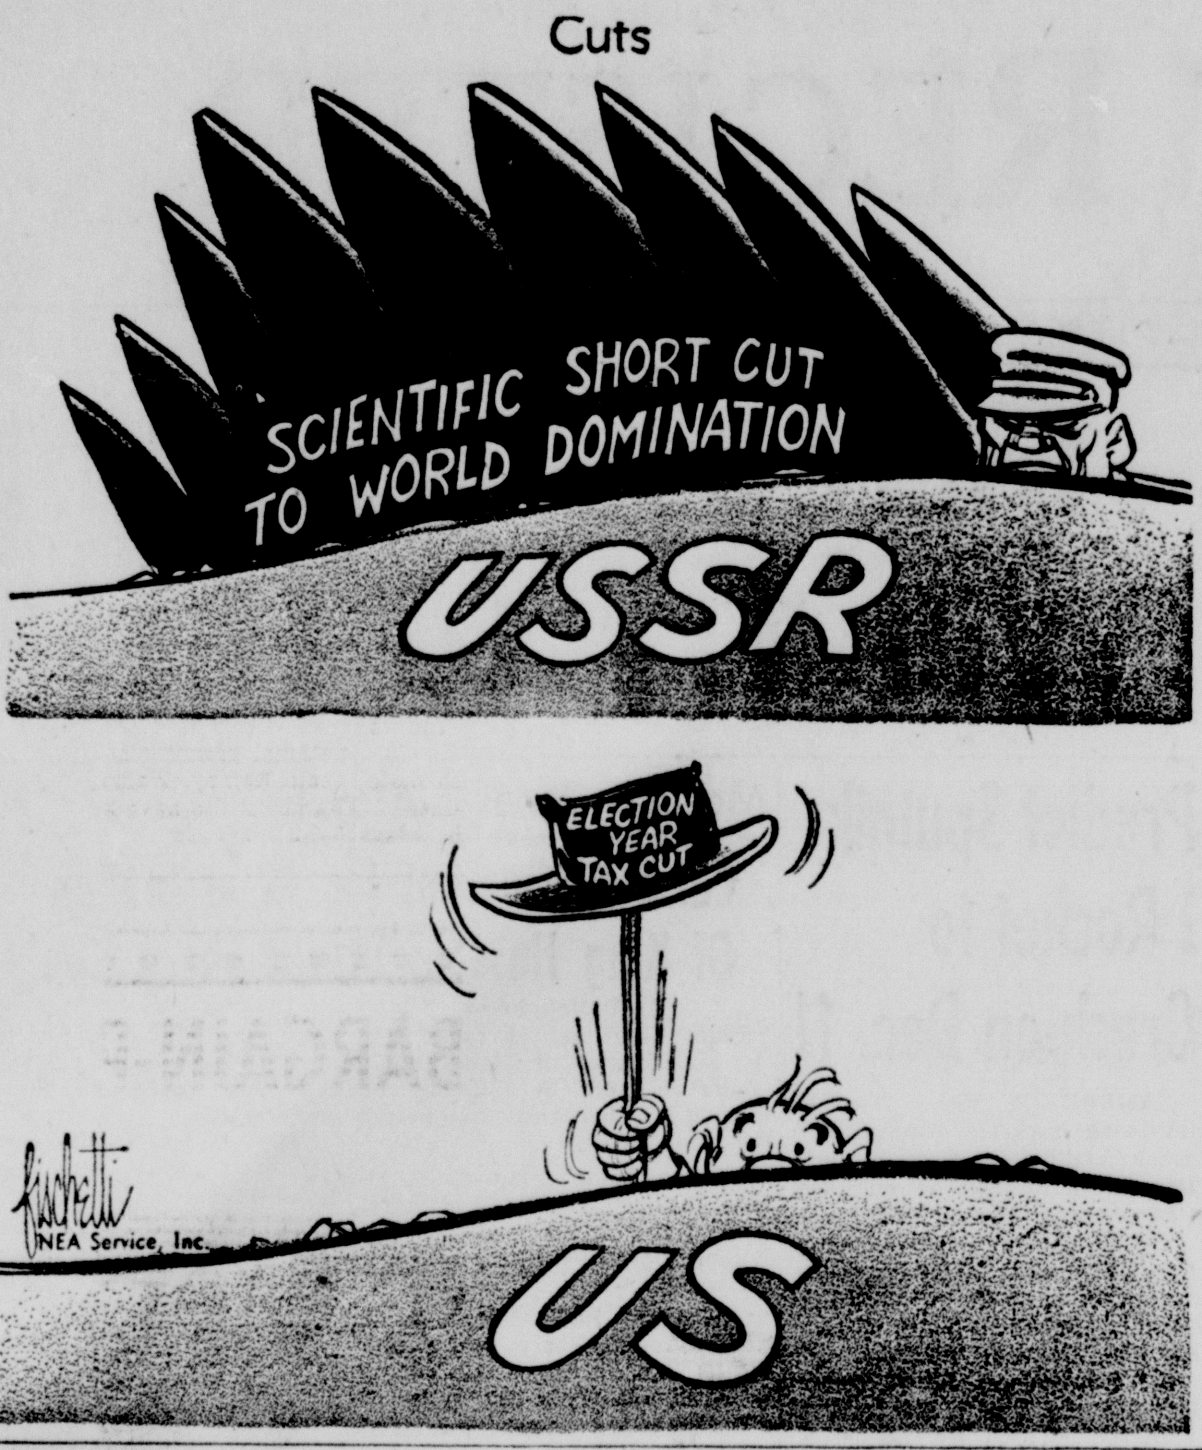

The ad is another in a series being sponsored by CIPS nationally to interest business and industrial leaders of the nation in the advantages offered industry by the more than 500 communities the utility company serves.

Business Week is read regularly by 275,000 executives plus an additional 550,000 of their business associates.

This national advertising program is part of the CIPS industrial development program which includes working closely with local business and civic groups to obtain new industry in the area.

The current Business Week ad points out that "industrial as well as agricultural roots take hold and thrive here in the heart of the nation's 'breadbasket'." It also says cooperative business and civic leaders in CIPStowns are anxious to help new industry "break the new ground" and cultivate the advantages found in the area.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Zhukov visit to Washington might have changed Kremlin history; Secretary Dulles talked like out of chumminess with Zhukov; Allen Dulles caught napping by Moscow moves.

WASHINGTON. — State Department officials who know the inside of how their chief, John Foster Dulles, persuaded President Eisenhower not to invite Marshal Zhukov to Washington last summer, figure that history inside the Kremlin might be entirely different today if Dulles's persuasion had not prevailed.

A trip by Zhukov to Washington would have so enhanced his prestige with the Russian people that he could not have been demoted. What happened was that last summer the President definitely wanted to invite his old wartime buddy to Washington for a talk on improvement of Russian-American relations. This was reported by this column on Aug. 25, 1956 and later confirmed by the President in a press conference.

But Dulles talked the President out of the meeting.

At that time both Chancellor Adenauer of Germany and the British were worried about any moves which looked like too much friendship between the USA and USSR, and any side-deals on disarmament. Harold Stassen in London had been talking disarmament with the Russians privately, and the British and Germans protested to Dulles. So the secretary of state, fearing the President would get too chummy with Marshal Zhukov if he came to Washington, persuaded the President not to issue the invitation.

Allen Dulles, younger brother of the secretary of state and head of Central Intelligence, has been more right than wrong in ferreting out backstage events in Europe. But he was caught completely off base

SECRET MEETING ON CRUISER

As far as can be pieced together, here are the inside facts which caused Khrushchev to move in on the man who had helped him save his job when he faced rebellion from Molotov, Malenkov et al last spring.

Shortly before Marshal Zhukov left for Yugoslavia he held a secret meeting aboard the Russian cruiser Kuibyshev at Sevastopol, the great Soviet submarine base in the Black Sea. Present were the top military commanders of the Red Army.

Zhukov is reported to have told them that he was opposed to any military adventures in the Near East which would risk bringing Russia into conflict with the United States. He was not against political moves in the Near East, but he was against any risk of war.

He further told Soviet commanders that Russia should concentrate on consolidating its position at home, not strike out in the Near East.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE

President Eisenhower's bridge and business partner, George Allen, is quite upset over Ike's sagging popularity. Allen is a professional presidential crony, who has been a White House intimate of Presidents Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower. Perhaps it's sardonic humor, but lately, Allen has been complaining to friends that Ike takes too much of his time. Always alert for the future, Allen has placed a big, new picture in his office—an autographed photo of Vice President Nixon. . . . If the Democrats take off their gloves in investigating Ike's Sputnik and ICBM failures, the Republicans will retaliate that the Truman administration failed to start missile research soon enough. The Democrats, in turn, will point out that during the Truman administration Dwight D. Eisenhower was chief of staff, later commander of NATO. They will ask what General Eisenhower did about missiles at that time. . . . "The Country Without an Army" could well be the nickname for the tiny principality of Liechtenstein, 61 square miles nestled in a narrow valley between Switzerland and Austria. Liechtenstein, an independent nation, with a population of only about 14,000 people, is represented overseas by the Swiss government. Having taken part in no wars for 150 years, it maintains no army. Its capital, Vaduz, manufactures only two items, cotton textiles and postage stamps. ## Kids Eat Anything If It's In Reach DETROIT—(UP)—A once-popular song pointed out, "a kid'll eat ivy too"—and anything else, according to city health officials.

City Health Commissioner Joseph Molner compiled a list of things youngsters have eaten. Included are insecticides, detergents, laundry bleaches, rat poisons, abrasive cleaners, ink, shot polish, car rubbing compound, nail polish, paint thinner, glue, DDT, chalk, hair waving lotion, dye, sleeping pills, blueing, toilet water, furniture cleaner, spray hair set, cologne, charcoal lighter fluid and pine oil.

One youngster managed to swallow a piece of chain and another part of a thermometer.

Molner's rules for safety:
1. Keep poisonous material in its original container, closed and labeled.
2. Never put part of such material in an unlabeled container.
3. Preferably, keep such things locked up or high and out of reach

4. Do not keep them near any foods.

5. If a poison is swallowed call the doctor at once and bring the bottle or container with you to the telephone so you can answer his questions.

Refuses to Testify

Shefferman's Detroit Manager Invokes the Fifth Amendment

WASHINGTON (UP) — George Kamenow, Detroit manager for Nathan W. Shefferman's labor relations firm, claimed his privilege under the Fifth Amendment today and refused to give the Senate Rackets Committee personal records or information on "union busting" activities.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said that it was "a pretty sad commentary, in my view, on business and management" when they make use of agents who "have to take the Fifth Amendment because if they told the truth it might tend to incriminate them."

Kamenow refused to produce personal financial records under a committee subpoena or to answer committee questions, beginning with his occupation. Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy questioned Kamenow about a list of entertainment, gift and transportation expenses taken from Kamenow's daily reports to the Shefferman firm. He got no answers.

Kennedy said the committee information is that the travel and entertainment data is significant because it includes "large sums of money expended for union busting."

The young chief counsel explained that the data includes "subtle means" of union busting — "small gifts," as well as "more obvious means—large sums of money."

Kamenow became the second business witness—and the second of Shefferman's aides to use the Fifth Amendment in the committee's current hearings aimed at improper practices by management.

Objects Sighted; Engineer Feels Heat

out of the ordinary was a gradual fading of the radio in his automobile.

Then, he said, the car engine died, and he noticed that several other cars on the highway had stopped. Stokes said he noticed that the occupants were getting out of their cars and pointing to the sky.

"Looking up," Stokes said in the interview, "I saw a light-colored, egg-shaped object making a shallow dive across the sky to the northeast."

"Then it wheeled and made a pass at the highway, across the road not more than two miles ahead."

No Smoke or Flame

It then moved away toward the Organ Mountains near White Sands proving grounds to the southwest.

"As it passed at its closest point I could feel a kind of heat wave, but there was no sound."

"It had no visible pores and there was no vapor trail, smoke or flame visible."

Stokes said he remembered the details precisely because he pulled out a notebook and jotted down everything he saw.

"When I got back to my car and checked the engine, I found it intact, but the battery was steaming. It started with no trouble and I headed for a phone to notify officials at the Air Force missile development center at Alamogordo."

An Air Force public information officer told United Press Monday night he had no information to report.

Stokes said he noted later, after he reached home, that he had a severe sunburn.

Masons Reminded of Past Masters' Night Friday Evening

Masons were reminded today of the annual Past Masters' Night of Harrisburg Lodge 325 to be held at the Masonic temple Friday evening.

The events honors past masters of the lodge and R. C. Davenport, Grand secretary, past Grand master and past master of the local lodge.

The evening will start with a free dinner at 6 o'clock in the temple dining room. However, reservations should be made with E. Bishop Hill, chairman of the Reception committee, not later than this evening.

Lodge will open at 7:30 p. m. for the Past Masters' Night events.

Charges Russia Attempts to Intimidate UN

Soviet Official Says Nation Will Quit Disarmament Group

UNITED NATIONS (UP) — Australia said today that Russia's threat to withdraw from the United Nations' 12-nation disarmament commission and its subcommittee of five atomic powers is "an ominous threat to peace."

Australian Ambassador E. Ronald Walker said the threat made by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov is an attempt to "intimidate" the U. N.

Kuznetsov told the General Assembly's Political Committee Monday that Russia will not participate in the U. N.'s 12-nation disarmament commission and its subcommittee of the five atomic powers, unless there is a change in their composition.

At the same time, he demanded top position in the committee's voting for a new disarmament commission comprising all 82 members of the U. N.

The Soviet proposals would mean the junking of five months of arms talks conducted by the United States, Britain, France, Canada and Russia in London this summer.

Calls It Ultimatum

The 24-nation resolution embodies the western proposals made at these talks. Kuznetsov tabbed the resolution an "ultimatum."

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said he hoped Kuznetsov's statement that Russia was through with the Disarmament Commission and its subcommittee was "just a passing thought and that wiser counsels will prevail."

"We do not believe that any nation seriously wishes to stand for all future time before the world and before recorded history as the nation which broke up and which ended humanity's effort to achieve disarmament and to achieve peace," he said.

Fear Weakening
Western delegates feared that the Soviet maneuver, backed up by recent Soviet technological developments, would weaken support from other U. N. members for the Western resolution.

The West has banked on a heavy vote in favor of its disarmament proposals to persuade Russia, by the force of world opinion, to go along with them.

Boy Dies of Burns

CHICAGO (UP) — David Allen, 6, died Monday of burns suffered last week when his "red devil" Halloween costume caught fire.

The boy's father, Robert, 37, said the boy was playing near a rubbish fire at the side of the Allen home and screamed when his costume burst into flames. The father ripped the clothing from the boy.

Father Hangs Self

MATTOON, Ill. (UP) — A father of four children apparently hanged himself in the bathroom of their home early today, authorities said.

Vernie Mathias, 45, was found dead by one of his children. Mathias' wife and authorities gave no reason for his action.

Girard Trial Ends; Verdict On November 19

MAEBASHI, Japan (UP) — The controversial manslaughter trial of Army SSG William S. Girard ended today with the defense demanding a verdict of innocent.

Chief Judge Yuzo Kawachi said the verdict would be announced Nov. 19. The trial was heard by a three-man court since there is no jury system in Japan.

Girard was charged in the fatal shooting of Mrs. Naka Sakai on a rifle range.

Conviction on the charge could carry a sentence of from two to 15 years. The prosecution has demanded a five-year term at hard labor.

Before recessing the court called Girard before the bar and asked if he had anything to say.

"Yes sir," the soldier replied. "I'm very sorry about this accident. My father died and I know how it must feel for her family. I will pray that some day they will find happiness."

Defense attorney Itsuro Hayashi attacked the credibility of the prosecution witnesses, particularly that of SSG Victory Nickel, in an hours' long 24,000-word summation before the court.

Nickel, of Inkster, Mich., was with Girard at the time of the

Three Social Welfare Workers Receive Citations

CHICAGO (UP) — The Illinois Welfare Association Monday night presented awards "for outstanding and distinguished service" to three social welfare workers.

Those cited at the IWA's annual banquet were Dr. Marietta Stevenson, Urbana; Dr. Everett P. Coleman, Canton; and Mrs. Marie P. Forbes, Rockford.

Dr. Stevenson, cousin of former Illinois governor Adlai E. Stevenson, was honored for her work as director of the School of Social Work at the University of Illinois.

Coleman was cited for organizing medical service to the poor while president of the Illinois Medical Society from 1944 through 1946.

Mrs. Forbes received her award for community service. She is a board member and former president of the Boys' Farm School at Durand.

Henley, Wilson Team Up to Kill Deer

George Henley and John Crawford Wilson report they teamed up to kill a deer in Pope county Saturday.

They were hunting together and were approximately 20 yards apart when a deer bounded into view. Both young men shot and when they reached the deer it was found to have been hit twice in the neck. It was a 4-point buck and dressed out at 133 pounds.

'Deadline Every Minute' Is Story of United Press

NEW YORK (UP) — "Deadline Every Minute," the story of the United Press and its world coverage of history-making events and personalities, has been published.

The book, written by Joe Alex Morris, is an account of the first 50 years of a world-wide news agency. It tells of feats of reporting that recorded history day by day for the reading and listening public.

The author traces the growth of the U. P. from its founding by E. W. Scripps in 1907, when it served 369 newspapers, through the momentous first half of the 20th Century to yesterday's international crises. The U. P. now serves 4,833 clients around the globe.

The exciting business of collecting the news — daring wartime coups, drugging labor to turn up political intrigue, clever code messages to thwart foreign censorship, the brass expense account items that go with foreign correspondence ("One mule, shot out from under me") — fills the pages with anecdote and journalistic achievement.

Such well-known newsmen's names as Roy W. Howard, Karl A. Bickel, Hugh Baillie, Frank H. Bartholomew, Raymond Clapper, Paul Mallon, William Philip Simms, Webb Miller, Westbrook Pegler, H. Allen Smith, Lyle C. Wilson, Walter Cronkite, H. D. (Doc) Quigg, Merriman Smith, and scores of others figure in the action.

Such headline-producing stuff as Clapper's finding of the "smoke-filled room" in which the nomination of Warren G. Harding was decided upon, the Snyder-Gray and Hauptmann murder trials, the Huey Long assassination, the Edward VIII abdication, the decisive political and battlefield moves of World Wars I and II, and the Bergman-Rossellini romance is told with the skill of on-the-spot reporters.

Told, too, is the story of U. P.'s constant fight for press freedom on a global scale and its stand against monopoly in news gathering and distribution.

The book is a Doubleday & Co. publication ($5.00).

Gov. Knight to Run for Senate

WASHINGTON (UP)—Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California formally announced today that after "long and careful consideration" he has decided to run for the U. S. Senate.

Knight will seek the seat that will be vacated next year by Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland of California, who has announced he will seek the 1958 GOP gubernatorial nomination.

Knight made his expected announcement after conferring with President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Emerging from a 40-minute meeting with Nixon, Knight said he has "reached the conclusion that my best and most constructive course of action in the interest of my state and my party would be to run for the United States Senate next year."

Knight's decision will avoid what GOP leaders had feared would be a party-splitting fight between him and Knowland for the governorship.

The Wailing Wall

Hayes Says Buckeyes Can Get Better; They're the Best, Wildcat Pilot Says

By ED SAINSBURY
United Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio State's football team leads the Big Ten with an unbeaten record, but Coach Woody Hayes complained to the "Wailing Wall" today that "we can get better."

"Our defense was improved and our offense more consistent," he said of the 39 point victory over Northwestern. "But we're not that good a football team yet. 'We're not satisfied.'"

Ara Parseghian of the Wildcats beaten previously by Michigan and Iowa, said the Buckeyes were "the best team we've played. They kicked the hell out of us. We just couldn't stop them. They'd run a man right up the middle and we'd stop him at the line, but he'd keep right on going. Their backs are so big, they hurt us. We tried everything, a nine, an eight, a seven, a six and a five man line with variations, and it didn't do any good."

Rose Bowl Talk

There was Rose Bowl talk for the Buckeyes, but Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue, Ohio State's next opponent, said flatly "I think Michigan State will go to the Rose Bowl. They only have to play Minnesota and Ohio State has two tough games left. Our defense did a real good job Saturday and when we had an opportunity we took it. But neither team played as well as it had in other games."

Ray Eliot of Illinois said "our injuries caught up with us. We lost our right end, our left guard, our left tackle, two right halfbacks, and our fullback against Purdue, and now we're in a mess. We're going to have our big problem finding out who can play next week."

Duffy Daugherty said his Michigan State team did a "really terrific defensive job" against Wisconsin. "We gave them a score in the first period," he said. "We had the ball on our 10 and they scored. It was the only time they were inside our 40 all day."

Wisconsin Differ
Milt Bruhn of Wisconsin saw the game a little differently. "They're a pretty good ball club, but it was a close one," he said. "We gave them one touchdown on an intercepted pass and they got another at the very end of the game. Had one of our fellows charged offside, the play never would have gotten off."

Forest Evashevski of Iowa complained that his team had "a lost weekend out there for 10 minutes" when Michigan scored all its points. "We kind of went to pot," he said. "We weren't staying with any plan, but just jumping all over the place. In the second half we stayed with our plan."

Bennie Oosterbaan said his Michigan team "played their hearts out and turned in a fine performance except for a couple of fumbles which proved costly."

Hoosiers' Best Ball
Indiana played "its best football yet" in the first half against Minnesota, Bob Hicks said. "Now we've got to keep knocking and keep learning and we might surprise somebody. We gave them their first score with a fumble on the 11, then they kind of overpowered us after that."

Murray Warmath of the Gophers said the Hoosiers were "good and tough and we only used 22 men until we wore them out. Finally we got 35 or 40 men into the game."

Notre Dame's Terry Brennan said his Irish "didn't play well against Navy, and I can't figure out why. Navy had better speed

Joe Louis and Wife Separate

CHICAGO (AP)—Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis and his wife, the former Rose Morgan of New York City, have signed separation papers.

Both Louis and his wife said they agreed to a trial separation Monday because their separate business interests made a life together "just too difficult."

Mrs. Louis manages a cosmetic manufacturing firm and beauty salon in New York, and Louis is in the milk business here.

Attorney Aaron H. Payne said both Louis and his wife signed agreements mutually excluding each other from claims or liabilities. Louis is heavily indebted to the federal government for income taxes.

Louis said he didn't want the marriage, which began in December, 1955, to end in divorce. The marriage was the third for Louis who previously was twice married and divorced from Marva Trotter of Detroit.

Herrin and Centralia May Share South Seven Loop Crown

Herrin and Centralia continued their winning ways last weekend and seemed destined to share the South Seven conference football championship.

Centralia downed Mt. Vernon 20-6 for its fourth South Seven victory, to go into a tie with Herrin which won from Johnston City in a non-loop affair, 34-0. Both Herrin and Centralia have 4-0 records, having played to a 13-13 deadlock in their meeting early in the season.

In other action involving South Seven teams West Frankfort beat Harrisburg 41-7 in a league game. Marion lost 13-6 to Chester and Benton dropped a 32-0 decision to Eldorado.

Centralia scored its first TD against Mt. Vernon on a Linder-to-Clay pass, the play covering 53 yards and Bob Hight converted to give the winners a 7-0 lead with the opening quarter half over.

In the second frame Centralia scored again on a long play, Don Bauer sprinting 55 yards for the TD. Within a couple of minutes Mt. Vernon's Glen Flemming raced 58 yards for a score and at half time the Orphans led 13-6. The last TD of the game was made on a 1-yard plunge by Centralia's Mickey Steptoe and Hight converted.

In another South Seven game West Frankfort scored in every quarter to win from Harrisburg's flu and injury ridden Bull Dogs.

WF scored single TDs in the first and third quarters and a pair in each of the second and fourth periods.

Harrisburg's TD came in the final frame.

The winners showed an exceptionally fine passing game, with Bruce Link, quarterback, doing the throwing. He connected for three TDs via the air lanes, hitting Irelase, an end, twice and halfback Barty once, this playing covering 78 yards.

Herrin walloped Johnston City in a non-league game 34-0 in a sloppy played game that saw each team lose the ball five times on fumbles and Herrin made two pass interceptions.

Three of Herrin's TDs came on long runs, 31 yards by David Neal, 49 yards by Chuck Bona and 44 yards by William Williams. Tom Williams scored on a 2-yard plunge and Willie Williams scored on a 1-yarder.

Marion lost its eighth consecutive game of the season, dropping a 13-6 verdict to Chester.

Chester, going into the game with a one win, one tie, five lost record, scored seven points in the opening frame and six in the second. Marion scored in the second quarter.

Saturday night, at Eldorado, Benton dropped a 32-0 decision to the unbeaten and untied Eagles.

Eldorado's fine defense held Benton completely in check in the first half while the winners were building up a 26-0 lead.

Eldorado scored again in the third quarter. Four Eagles broke into the TD column—Lester Feunag scoring two, Jack Fowler, Tom Baugher and Chuck McCalister one each. Fowler and Goodley added PATs.

Herrin's path to a South Seven co-championship appears easier than Centralia's.

Herrin has only winless Marion to face in the league, while Centralia must play West Frankfort, a team that has shown considerable power at times during the season.

Whatever Happened to—

Willie Hoppe

By United Press

It was 52 years ago, and the "boy wonder of billiards" was just turned 18 when he captured the world's 181 balkline billiards crown from Maurice Vignaux before a packed gallery at Paris. All told, he won 52 world championships in a display of superiority unparalleled in sports history.

Whatever happened to Willie Hoppe? Today, at 70, he lives in a small apartment in Miami and only rarely ventures north for an occasional exhibition in a sport he calls "extinct."

Kefauver to Ask Auto Makers to Justify Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver said today that he will ask officials of Chrysler, Ford and General Motors to justify recent auto price increases in testimony before the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee.

The Tennessee Democrat, chairman of the subcommittee, said he hopes to announce soon the date for the opening of the subcommittee's investigation of the auto price hikes.

Among the three largest selling automobiles, Ford has made an overall 2.5 per cent price increase on its various models, but reduced prices on the Custom 300 and Fairlane sedans; Plymouth prices have gone up an average of 4.47 per cent, and Chevrolet has raised prices by as much as 5.52 per cent on its six-cylinder models.

The subcommittee recalled former treasury secretary George M. Humphrey for further questioning today on last summer's increase of $6 a ton in steel prices. Humphrey now is chairman of the board of National Steel Corp. of Pittsburgh.

Today's session was scheduled to windup testimony by steel executives. Representatives of U. S. Steel and Bethlehem already have testified in defense of the hike in steel prices which followed a wage increase negotiated by the Steelworkers Union.

But a subcommittee spokesman said efforts would be continued to get from the Justice Department a memorandum on an investigation during the Truman administration of alleged monopolistic practices by U. S. Steel Corp.

THE CANVAS DAGGER

by HELEN REILLY

XXIV
A trooper had brought Sarah over from Carlotta and Steven's. A small shiver went through her at the sight of the New York inspector. He was very tall, taller than Tom; his head didn't miss the ceiling by much. His manner was casual, pleasant. She wasn't misled. There was an extremely keen brain under the well-brushed dark hair. He was an extraordinarily clever man and a subtle one.

On his side McKee found the girl who had started this whole business by an idle glance out of a window singularly attractive. The bone structure of brow and cheek and chin was fine, the tawny head well held. Dark lashed gray-green eyes, a generous mouth; she hadn't Lisa Hall's obvious beauty but there was a flamelike quality to her, a quickness and a spirit that made the older woman seem heavy, lifeless, and on the dull side.

Seating herself in the blue chair near the window, her polo coat gathered around her, Sarah asked about Zita and McKee said that Miss Warren was coming along nicely but that, for the moment anyhow, the best place for her was the hospital.

"Then you do agree that someone did try to kill her, Inspector?"
"Yes, Miss Casement. According to a report I had a short time ago, Miss Warren is now sure that she was deliberately shoved off the pavement into the path of the truck that luckily hit her only a glancing blow."

At last, Sarah had met with nothing but incredulity from those other policemen in New York, and in a lesser degree from Tom. The first question the Inspector put to her was an odd one. What had she thought of Dennert? When she looked puzzled he elaborated. He had a trick of taking you into his confidence, beware of it.

He said, "I'll be frank, we've discovered very little about Dennert—who he was, what he did for a living, where he came from. All we're sure of is that he was a friend of an acquaintance of Melville's—he knew, for instance, where Melville's desk was to be found when he went to search it—and that he was outside the Tenth Street house just before the painter was killed and knew or suspected the killer's identity. What sort of man was Dennert, Miss Casement, what would you say his occupation was?"

Sarah frowned. "An educated man, timid, conscientious, a nervous temperament, idealistic and beaten. Living was too much for him. A worrier. Gentle. A teacher, perhaps. . . not an executive, nothing that required drive, perhaps civil service, or a writer, not of fiction, or an economist. . ."

"Good enough. Very good indeed."
McKee asked her whether she had had any unexpected visitors, and after a slight hesitation she told him of Bob Brown's return, the lamp Florrie had taken, and about Felix Satterlee's having come to borrow a hot plate. As she spoke she thought of Satterlee's sudden and silent appearance upstairs just after her discovery of the broom that had swept away footprints in the dust, of his rosy, smiling face, his "Did I frighten you?" Was the shoe on the other foot? Had she frightened him?

McKee had been watching her. "There's nothing you're keeping back, Miss Casement, for fear it might reflect, throw suspicion on a—friend?"

Of course she was afraid. Tom was concealing things. He wasn't telling the truth about Dennert—which didn't mean that he had killed the man.
Sarah gave her head a shake and said, "No. Oh, no."

The phone in the kitchen was ringing. It rang four times. Four was Grace's ring.

McKee answered the phone. The call, from New York, was for him. Sarah sat back weakly. The door between the two rooms was open. She could hear a few uninformative phrases. "You did? Fine. . . Yes, I was rather expecting it. . . McKee hung up and came back. His hat was lying on the couch. He picked it up, smoothed out the crease. "Where is the Grant Melville cottage from here, Miss Casement?"

Tom. . . It was something about Tom. . . He mustn't talk to Tom without notice—Sarah got up. "It's—I'm afraid it's rather complicated, Inspector. Suppose I show you the way. I'll go ahead of you."

McKee thanked her absently. "That will be fine. But there's no need of two cars, come with me in mine, I'll bring you back shortly."

McKee pulled into the sandy enclosure ringed with pines and they both got out. The house was above them and to the left. Sarah started along the short path that led to the patio at the back of the cottage. Just short of the end of the path she stood still, rigid with shock.

Again, Sarah thought, in almost the same spot. It was a repetition of what she had seen and heard before, only this time it was conclusive, completely conclusive. The impact was stunning.

Tom and a woman were standing in the middle of the patio. Their arms were around each other. The woman was Lisa Hall. Her head was on Tom's shoulder, and he was stroking her hair with his free hand and talking tenderly to her. "Don't let go, Lisa. You couldn't help it. You—"

Behind Sarah, McKee coughed, and the two figures that had been one sprang apart.
